

MORGAN WITTMER

graphic designer & illustrator

Hey there! My name's Morgan Wittmer and I'm a graphic designer and illustrator based in North Carolina. Before discovering my passion for design, I graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill with a major in psychology and a minor in studio art. Since then I've also graduated from Cape Fear Community College with a certificate in graphic design. My past experience in psychology has allowed me to bring a strong empathetic approach to my design process, and my first instinct is to really "get in the head" of the consumer. I'm currently working as a freelancer, so please don't hesitate to contact me with any of your graphic design/illustration needs.
